E-9-1-1: Deadline Looms

. . . of a 9-1-1 call. This section applies to multi-line telephone systems regardless of the system technology.”

The current version of the draft rules would interpret the statute to require that any service user that installs or operates a multi-line telephone system to assure that the telephone system is connected to the public switched telephone network in a manner that transmits, along with calls, to 9-1-1 accurate automatic number and location identification to the Public Safety Answering Point (“PSAP”). In addition, businesses with multiple buildings at the same street address or with buildings of greater than 40,000 square feet would be required to transmit an “Emergency Response Location” or (“ERL”) to the PSAP along with the 9-1-1 call. The ERL would be a location to which a 9-1-1 emergency response team may be dispatched that is specific enough to provide a reasonable opportunity for the emergency response team to quickly locate a caller anywhere within the location from which the call is originated. This location, under the proposed rules, would “mean[s] a room or unit number, or room name, or equivalent designation of a portion of a structure or building to which a 9-1-1 emergency response team may be dispatched and the caller quickly located.”

Implementation of the statute and draft informal rules have a potential impact on schools, business, and telecommunications carriers that could run in the millions of dollars for each institution. Implementation may even be an impossibility for organizations with older Centrex style phone systems. If adopted, businesses or schools that maintain an internal phone system, regardless of whether such telephone system is on the Plain Old Telephone Network or connected via Voice over Internet Protocol would have to make significant changes to ensure they are in compliance with the rules.

Because this is currently an informal rulemaking process, the Commission has not yet requested authorization from the Office of Regulatory Reform (“ORR”) to begin the formal process to promulgate these rules. However the Commission has received numerous comments on the proposed rules and is continuing to solicit comments from interested parties. The Commission has also held a series of collaborative meetings with interested parties to discuss the rules and possible modifications. The informal rules are available for viewing on the Commission’s website under the Telecommunications Division/Numbering and 911 at <<http://www.michigan.gov/mpsc/0,1607,7-159-16372-220667--,00.html>>. The Commission has asked that comments be sent to Karen G. Norcross, Sr. Numbering Resources Specialist, Operations and Tariffs Section, Telecommunications Division, Michigan Public Service Commission via e-mail at <norcrossk@michigan.gov>. Clark Hill PLC is available to assist interested parties with the drafting and filing of such comments.

It is anticipated that the Commission will shortly request requested formal rulemaking authority from ORR. At that time another round of Comments will be invited and a public hearing will be held.

On May 4, 2010, B&S Telecom, Inc. filed a Second Amended Complaint with the Michigan Public Service Commission (“Commission”) against AT&T Michigan. According to the Second Amended Complaint, B&S alleges that AT&T has refused to unbundle and separately price each basic local exchange service offered by the respondent into the loop and port components and allow B&S to purchase such services on a nondiscriminatory basis as required by MCL 484.2355; the Commission did not establish a rate for the combination of a loop with a port; and, AT&T has charged B&S rates which are not “rates established by the Commission” for a loop and/or a port, required by MCL 484.2352(2) alleging that AT&T is charging rates greater than that approved by the Commission; failed to allow B&S to purchase separately-priced loop and switch ports, as required by the Michigan Telecommunications Act (“MTA”), and violated Section 502 of the MTA. B&S requests an order for emergency relief under Section 203 of the MTA alleging that AT&T “will delay or otherwise interfere with the timely processing of [B&S’] orders” during the pendency of the Complaint. The Second Amended Complaint replaces the January 15, 2010 First Amended Complaint, and according to the Second Amended Complaint “is made necessary due to a change in circumstances between January 15, 2010 (the date of filing of the First Amended Complaint) and the April 27, 2010 order of the Commission that accepted Plaintiff’s Second (sic) Amended Complaint.”

<http://efile.mpsc.cis.state.mi.us/efile/viewcase.php?casenum=16251>

Comments Due: Thursday, July 15, 2010

On April 27, 2010, the Michigan Public Service Commission ("Commission") issued an Order and Notice of Hearing commencing a formal rulemaking proceeding to promulgate rules to maintain and enforce quality of service standards for the provision of basic local exchange service to end users. The Commission noted in its Order that under Section 202(2) of the Michigan Telecommunications Act, MCL 484.2202(2), the service quality rules promulgated by the Commission in 2007 (which these proposed rules mirror) expire three years after their promulgation. Because Section 202(2) permits the Commission to renew the expiring rules, this rule set is promulgating without change the service quality rules adopted in 2007. Members of the public are invited to comment on the proposed rules at a public hearing which will be held at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday, June 24, 2010 at the Commission's Offices at 6545 Mercantile Way in Lansing, Michigan.
