

We know restorative justice (RJ) changes school cultures and improves lives. And we know the current discipline system is hurting the most vulnerable among us. It's time to harness the power of restorative justice for your students, their parents, your faculty and staff and your community. We can show you how.

This webinar will explain the new restorative justice legislation, and it will introduce you to the concepts and philosophy of restorative justice in schools. Use this sheet to follow along with this presentation and take notes of the key points. Let it launch you into integrating RJ in your school community.

We hope you will visit us at www.schertzingcommunications.com to access free information and explore learning opportunities we offer. While you're there, consider registering for our two-day Restorative Circles training January 31st -February 1st in Clark Hill's Lansing offices.

Restorative Justice is a peaceful conflict resolution process that favors _____ over _____.

Traditional discipline asks "What _____ was broken?" But RJ asks "What _____ has resulted from this incident?"

RJ is grounded in _____ for all . . . even those who seem to be our enemies.

Restorative Justice brings together the _____, the _____ and members of the _____ affected by the incident.

Restorative Justice process is built around three key questions that guide and help define each stage of the process:

1. What _____?
2. Who has been _____ and how?
3. How do we makes things _____ as much as possible?
