

Behavioral Health Care Law

Question: What is it about Behavioral Health Care law that sets it apart?

Answer: Behavioral Health Care Law is broader and more complex than health care law. The Behavioral Health Care lawyer must know business and transaction law, health care law plus Behavioral Health Care Law.

#3 Behavioral Health Care Lawyer

Carve Out	Stigma	Housing Discrimination
Recovery	Duty to Warn	Consumer Employment
Integration	Outcomes	More Statutory/Regulatory Schemes
Funding	Parity	Duty to Protect
Special Rules	Drugs/Alcohol	Involuntary Treatment

#2 Health Care Law Lawyer

CMS	Compliance Regulations	Informed Consent
Fraud/Abuse	Claims/Recoupment	TPA
Pricing/Rates	Med-mal	Rx
Nonprofit	Managed Care	Confidentiality EMR

CMS	Compliance Regulations	Informed Consent
Fraud/Abuse	Claims/Recoupment	TPA
Pricing/Rates	Med-mal	Rx
Nonprofit	Managed Care	Confidentiality EMR

#1 Business & Transactions Lawyer

Business Operations	Real Estate	Contracts
UCC	Mergers	Negligence
Equipment Leasing	Employment Law	Idemnity

Business Operations	Real Estate	Contracts
UCC	Mergers	Negligence
Equipment Leasing	Employment Law	Idemnity

Business Operations	Real Estate	Contracts
UCC	Mergers	Negligence
Equipment Leasing	Employment Law	Idemnity

Most law firms do business and transaction law, #1. Some have Health Care Law practice groups, #2. Very few supply Behavioral Health Care Law, #3. Clark Hill has all three. Our Behavioral Health Care lawyers have actual hands on experience in all aspects of behavioral health care law. Our lawyers participate in policy development groups that focus on creating methodologies to integrate medical and behavioral health care. Our lawyers enjoy what they do and our clients enjoy working with us—just ask them!