Construction

Clark Hill is routinely involved in every facet of the construction process, from real estate acquisition and project financing, through the drafting of contract documents and project administration, to claim preparation and dispute resolution. Our diverse clientele consists of:

- Public and private owners
- Developers
- Lenders
- Sureties
- General contractors
- Design professionals
- Specialty contractors
- Subcontractors
- Suppliers

Our construction group is comprised of attorneys with engineering degrees, contracting backgrounds, and experience in countless construction claims and professional liability matters involving a variety of commercial, industrial, heavy, and highway projects. Members of our construction group are frequently contacted to lecture and/or write on various construction law topics and are actively involved in several industry and specialty organizations, including Associated General Contractors of America and the American Bar Association - Construction Forum.
