

Insurance & Reinsurance

A prominent legal practice in the global insurance and reinsurance market, Clark Hill represents insurers and reinsurers from the United States, Europe, and Bermuda in coverage disputes, arbitrations, insolvency and regulatory actions, and transactional matters. Our deep bench of experience is assuredly comprehensive. We deliver proven skills in all insurance and reinsurance matters. Our practice combines the talents of veteran insurance counselors, accomplished coverage attorneys, formidable trial advocates, and seasoned appellate advisors.

Our team is valued for extensive industry know-how and the ability to efficiently handle any complex matter in connection with (re)insurance—from representing a Bermuda reinsurer in arbitration with its cedant regarding an underlying settlement allocation to appellate advocacy on behalf of excess layer insurers challenging coverage of a class action settlement, to providing an opinion on the status of credit insurance under state law. We are also experienced in guiding managing general agents, producers, agents, and brokers through the array of legal challenges they face.

Our team delivers counseling abilities to clients such as Lloyd's and other London market insurers, as well as insurers in the United States, Bermuda, and Europe for pre-underwriting and claims audits, management of high exposure claims, and providing coverage advice. We help clients evaluate risk, determine premiums, and draft policies regarding a wide variety of lines of business, including miscellaneous errors and omissions, workers compensation, billing E&O, hospitals, allied health risks, correctional health risks and physicians, and hospital management liability.

Moreover, we assist with the management of high-exposure claims that extend from a nationwide network of defense counsel and other experts through litigation, trial, and appeal. We routinely work with clients' insureds and their counsel on developing and implementing focused and tactical defenses. Whether through early settlement negotiation or developing litigation strategies, our attorneys have maintained a reputation of dealing constructively and efficiently with clients.
