

Warranty

Clark Hill attorneys have an extensive breach of warranty experience in several industries, including automotive, computer, and construction. We have coordinated warranty and product liability litigation for several manufacturers on a national and regional basis. For the past several years, our product liability group has the pleasure of representing numerous manufacturers, which include German, Japanese, Korean, and domestic manufacturers and others in breach of warranty claims. We have designed and implemented standard processes for efficiently managing breach of warranty and lemon law cases with leveraged staffing and application of technology.

Our product liability experience is nationwide, having tried cases to verdicts in 13 states. Decisions of cases tried by our attorneys have been published in the Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Circuit Courts of Appeals, among others. Our attorneys have successfully defended a broad range of products including automobiles, personal computers, motorcycles, tractor trailers, watercraft, jet and general aviation aircraft, industrial presses and other heavy equipment, construction and agricultural equipment, forklifts and trucks, material handling equipment, air rifles, and consumer products.
