

Jeremy S. Motz

Member

Jeremy Motz focuses on assisting public and private sector entities in a wide variety of transactional matters related to contracted services, labor and employment, construction, real estate, public procurements, intellectual property, and corporate governance. In addition, he regularly counsels public school districts and charter schools on educational and operational issues such as outsourcing and contracted services, purchasing and procurements, school building construction, real estate, wireless communication (cell tower) facilities, and compliance with the wide-ranging laws governing public bodies, such as the Revised School Code, the Freedom of Information Act, the Open Meetings Act, and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.

Prior to joining Clark Hill, Jeremy completed a judicial internship with the Honorable Christopher M. Murray of the State of Michigan Court of Appeals. While in law school, Jeremy was a Dean's Scholar and received multiple awards for his academic achievement. Jeremy also served as a Title Editor for the University of Detroit Mercy Law Review.

Jeremy is a frequent presenter on various legal issues facing public school districts and other educational entities. Jeremy frequently presents at conferences and seminars for the Michigan School Business Officials, the Michigan Association of School Boards, the Michigan Institute for Educational Management, and other local business groups throughout the State.
